[illegible] of Religious Lunatics.

[illegible] Sept. 2.—The Globe Democrat has a let[illegible] [illegible], Ark., detailing some atrocities [illegible] by a religious sect called Cobb[illegible] at Gum [illegible] county. It appears an old man [illegible] rules the community and is regarded [illegible] as Jesus and is obeyed accordingly. [illegible] past singular noises have been heard [illegible] and a few days ago C. D. Humph[illegible] [illegible], Mr. Blake determined to ascertain the [illegible]. They therefore visited the locality, and ap[illegible] the hut from which issued the [illegible] a man named Dover, one of the Cobb[illegible], [illegible] them, saying God was in the hut and [illegible] to enter and see him. They alighted [illegible], and Humphreys was at once [illegible] four men and Blake by four women. [illegible] loose from his captors and ran about a [illegible], when on looking back he saw the [illegible] Humphreys to pieces with long knives. [illegible] to town and reported the case, and a [illegible] at once started for the scene of the [illegible] arriving at the springs, they found [illegible] head cut off and stuck on a fence pal[illegible] riding by had been compelled to get [illegible] bow to the head three times and utter [illegible]. A parley ensued between the leader of [illegible], J. C. Black, and Dover of the Cobbites, [illegible] the latter took Humphreys' head [illegible] several times and shook it back and [illegible] it on the paling at the same [illegible] the citizens to leave. At last Dover [illegible] advanced on Black and his party [illegible], and the latter fired upon [illegible] two men and wounding another. [illegible] four men, four women and two chil[illegible] [illegible] and taken to jail, and other [illegible] arrested and taken to jail. There [illegible] among the people and lynch[illegible]. Next day a preliminary ex[illegible] held and all the parties released. [illegible]ly about their religion, and [illegible] little doubt but they were all crazy [illegible] of religious excitement and starva[illegible].

[illegible] from Ark[illegible] say the coroner's in[illegible] the body of Humphreys returned a [illegible] and J. M. Dover, Thomas Gainly [illegible] Nelson were principals, and [illegible] and Lee Dover accessories. L. S. [illegible] Gainly were killed by the posse. Old Cobb escaped to the woods [illegible] was not captured. It appears [illegible] Michigan, where he taught these [illegible] until driven out. He first set[illegible] [illegible], where he made a few [illegible] is said, offered up infants as sacri[illegible]—away from there with his fa[illegible] and went to the White country [illegible] few more ignorant people to join [illegible] received do not give any rea[illegible] for the attack upon Humphreys and [illegible] murder of the former but the Cobb[illegible] wrought up to a high degree [illegible] and frenzy and were urged [illegible], who had taught his followers [illegible] in person, but he uttered the [illegible] that anything they did was [illegible]

Terrible Explosion of a Boiler.

Chicago, Sept. [illegible].—The [illegible] gives details of a terrible explosion [illegible] a thresher working at the farm of [illegible] Jones near Chatfield, Minn. The machine was in full [illegible] when the explosion occurred. [illegible] was blown a hundred and fifty feet, his body breaking off a tree top twenty feet from the ground. He was instantly killed. Charles Arnold, band cutter, was literally torn to pieces, part of his body being scattered all around the separator. William Burnett, the feeder, had the top of his head taken off by a piece of the boiler. Patrick Jones [illegible] had his arm and leg badly broken. The boiler was blown a distance of two hundred feet.

Incendiary Fire.

[illegible] Pa., Sept. 2.—Albert [illegible] steam saw mill, Jonathan Boynton's lumber yard and [illegible] Co.'s water tank at Woodland were burned by an incendiary this morning. [illegible] $4,000.

POLITICAL.

Seymour again Positively Declines.

Utica, N. Y., Sept. 2.—Daniel Magone, Jr., Senator Kernan, Hon. Scott Lord, [illegible], M. Bearsley and other prominent Democrats went to Deerfield this morning and received from Gov. Seymour a refusal to withdraw or modify his absolute declination to allow the use of his name as a candidate for governor.

The New York Democracy in Trouble.

Elmira, N. Y., Sept. 2.—Judge Gray, chairman of the Democratic State convention, telegraphs the state committee that it should not name a candidate for Governor in place of Seymour, but should either recall the convention or a new one. Judge Gray says he received a telegram from Governor Seymour declining nomination for any office, and withheld it from the convention by advice of the chairman of the State committee, who recommended no mention be made of it until the committee to confer with Gov. Seymour had been heard from. The chairman of this latter committee reporting Gov. Seymour would accept the nomination made it unnecessary to read the dispatch.

Self-Nominated Candidate for Governor.

Nashville, Sept. 2.—Yardley, colored, of Knoxville, late justice of the peace, announces himself a candidate for Governor because the State Republican Convention to which he was delegated failed to carry out his views on questions vital to the Republican party and voted down every proposition in the interest of his race. He says he is confident his candidacy is for the good of his party and his race.

Resignation of U. S. Marshal Packard.

New Orleans, Sept. 2.—U. S. Marshal Packard, in view of his candidacy for governor, to-day wrote to the President resigning his office. He took occasion to express his gratification at the confidence and support extended him by the President.

Delegates to the Greenback Convention Elected.

The greenback convention to-day elect two delegates to the State Convention at Jefferson City next Wednesday. A mass meeting of considerable magnitude was held by them to-night.

Greenback Convention in New York.

New York, Sept. 2.—The Independent Greenback party of this State will hold a convention in Albany, September 2d, to nominate a State ticket.

Telegram from Gov. Seymour.

New York, Sept. 3.—The following telegram was published to-day:

Utica, N. Y., Sept. 2d.

Hon. Chas. H. Dana, Editor of the Sun, New York: I shall not accept the nomination. My letter of declination is now in the hands of Mr. Magone, chairman of the state committee.

HORATIO SEYMOUR.

The New York Dilemma.

New York, Sept. 3.—The Democratic dilemma intensifies every hour. The World, Albany Argus, and some other journals propose ignoring Seymour's declination altogether and marching on to victory under his name and banner. The Sun says it would not be advisable, in our judgment, to put either Dorsheimer or Potter in nomination for the first place on the ticket. Some conspicuous Democrat of long standing in the party and of necessary reputation in the State should be nominated, such a man, for instance, as Hand of Albany or Lord, of Utica. The Sun says, we would respectfully advise that a few gentlemen who have become rather conspicuous in the campaign should be promptly withdrawn. Among those W. S. Andrews and Mr. Pelton, a relative of Mr. Tilden, may be mentioned. They are gentlemen of much activity no doubt, but not qualified to be trusted with the power of ruining or even injuring important public concerns. J. Thomas Spriggs and S. T. Fairchild might also at the same time be restored to that private life which we trust they may long continue to adorn.

Seymour's Letter of Declination.

Seymour has telegraphed to the Associated Press that he gave Magone his letter of declination. Magone, who is at Albany to-night, denies that he has the letter, but will give the public definite information relative to the subject to-morrow or next day. Magone does not want even this statement made public.

Maryland Politics.

Chicago, Sept. 3.—The Inter Ocean's Washington special says the National Republican Committee feel very much encouraged over the reports from Maryland and entertain strong hopes that Maryland will be carried against Tilden. With a full and fair vote Maryland Republicans claim the State can be carried for Hayes by two thousand majority.

Democratic Report Denied.

Chicago, Sept. 2.—The Tribune's Washington special says: The sensational Democratic reports that there is to be an expensive naval review at Port Royal in October, and that the U. S. steamer Despatch is to be fitted up at great expense for the accommodation of Secretary Robeson and a pleasure party are unfounded. Secretary Robeson will attend no such review. The vessels of the North Atlantic squadron will assemble at Port Royal in October and will be inspected by the admiral in command. They have been summoned north on account of the climate and diseases of the tropics. They will be redistributed for winter. The inspection is the regular one provided for in the naval appropriation and is a part of the routine.

WASHINGTON CITY.

Clerks Discharged.

Washington, Sept. 2.—124 clerks out of the 800 employed in the war department and its various bureaus were to-day discharged, on account of the recent action of Congress ordering a reduction in the clerical force of the departments.

Homestead Entries.

In the appeal case of Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railway Co. against A. Bell, who improved some land belonging to the railroad company and desired to enter it as homestead, the Secretary of the Interior has given a decision in favor of the railway company on the ground that the title to the land in question was not wrested from the railway company by the act of Congress relied upon by Bell.

Work on the Cascades Locks and Canal.

At the request of Senator Mitchell instructions from the War Department will be forwarded immediately with reference to the commencement of the work on the canal and locks at the Cascades of the Columbia river.

Survey of Coos Bay.

The Secretary of War assured Senator Mitchell an examination and survey of Coos Bay, Oregon, with a view to the improvement of the commercial advantages at that point shall be made on [illegible] the $40,000 appropriation for such surveys.

Increase of Mail Service.

Senator Mitchell has secured an [illegible] of mail service on the route from Jacksonville to Brownsborough, Oregon, from a weekly to a semi-weekly service, also a mail service from Bridge Creek to upper Ochoco.

Indian Agent Burke Sending Cattle to Sitting Bull.

The following dispatch has been received by Gen. Sherman from Gen. Sheridan in Chicago: [illegible] Cardin [illegible] that he has no [illegible] Agent Burke at Standing Rock, who [illegible] interview with Kill[illegible], one of the hostile chiefs, who subsequently issued a [illegible] of cattle, [illegible] which is believed have gone to the hostile camps. We [illegible] want [illegible] anything which would be unpleasant in any way to the Secretary of the Interior [illegible] of Indian Affairs, but I really think it would be best for all on [illegible] that army officers shall perform the duties of [illegible] [illegible] Capt. R. E. Johnston in charge of the agency at Standing Rock until New arrives. [illegible] Sherman sent the following to Gen. Sheridan: The Secretary of War is back, and I have also [illegible], Secretary of the Interior, who says another agent has been appointed for Standing Rock Agency, who will [illegible] be there, but in the meantime you may appoint Capt. [illegible]. He must [illegible] issues from agency to Indians [illegible] [illegible] and faithful. The most friendly feeling and hearty co-operation exists between the War and Interior Departments upon these points, and whatever measure may be thought best will be carried jointly by both departments. Major Kellett was appointed yesterday agent at Standing Rock [illegible] has some difficulty has arisen in respect to his bond, and another person will be appointed [illegible] selected by the board of Indian Commissioners.

Coinage for August.

The following is the total coinage of the mints at Philadelphia, Carson and San Francisco for August: double eagles, 211,[illegible]; trade dollars, 5[illegible],200; half dollars, [illegible]9,000; quarter dollars, 3[illegible],200; twenty cent pieces, 200,000; dimes, [illegible],200; five cent nickels, 110,000; one cent bronze, 220,000.

Postal Changes.

Washington, Sept. 3.—P. M. appointed: Wm. A. Croxton, Lookingglass, Douglas county, Oregon.

THE PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN

Speech of Governor Hendricks.

Shelbyville, Ind., Sept. [illegible].—The [illegible] [illegible] to-day [illegible] the State this campaign [illegible] to twelve [illegible]. On being introduced the Governor [illegible]

[illegible] I think [illegible] you all the principles [illegible] recent speech [illegible] Morton [illegible] campaign with slanders [illegible] character [illegible] purpose of their [illegible] consists [illegible] give it character was [illegible] slander. No man [illegible] at misrepresentation [illegible] of Democrats is the purpose [illegible] speak [illegible] of the Republican party. They charge conduct [illegible] and opinions wholly unknown. The parties attacked [illegible] language is attributed which was never uttered or so mutilated and garbled as to impart a meaning never intended. A cause must indeed be desperate when its vindication requires a resort to means so despicable and wicked in your presence. It cannot rely [illegible] by resort to like means and use of such weapons in defense. My old neighbors who have known me from youth up, witness this day that because of my respect for you, both Democrats and Republicans, I cannot reply as we are attacked, and why should I? Is this not the Centennial year? Are we not in the midst of memories of the times when the heroes and warriors of the Revolution established the Union and declared the Constitution? Are we not in the midst of great responsibilities that rest somewhat upon every man's shoulders? When corruption in every department of the public service threatens the stability of our institutions may we not see truth in the face and wave falsehood from our embrace? When the paralysis of hard times is felt every where and all men are looking into the future with extreme anxiety may we deny our obligations to society and become blind followers of party? What is in truth your duty and mine?

CONDITION OF THE SOUTH.

In respect to the South I but repeat my letter of acceptance when I say that all the people must be made to feel and know that once more there is established a purpose and policy under which all citizens of every condition, race and color, will be secure in enjoyment of whatever rights the constitution and laws declare or recognize, and that he is a dangerous enemy of his country who would arouse or foster sectional antagonism. Is it indeed true that for full ten years the Republican party has been enacting laws, has been expending great sums of money and using the army to establish, control and maintain peace throughout the South, and yet that strife and bloodshed prevail in some localities? Failure is stamped upon their policy. In but two States is there bloodshed and death between the races. In these States alone, Louisiana and South Carolina, is the Republican party dominant. In every other State in the South the people have recovered and restored the American right and power of self government, and the negro vote has ceased to be a tool of the party, while peace and harmony prevail and prosperity is returning to all. Do you recollect that less than four years ago Clayton and his plundering associates maintained a horrid government in Arkansas by bands of armed men, and that there was no safety nor peace to the black man or the white man? Under kind Providence the people obtained an opportunity to hold an election. They raised their constitution and elected good men to office, and since that day the mild sway and authority of law has been over all and respected by all, and the races have dwelt in harmony. One year ago the Democrats carried the election in Mississippi, both branches of the legislature being Democratic, and since then their enactments have been so wise and just toward both races that not even complaint has been made. The government and subordinate officers abandoned their positions to avoid impeachment upon grave charges. Their pernicious influence being removed, and people no longer distracted and plundered, the black man and white man have since then been friends and now strive together for restoration of their State. The same story tells the history of North Carolina and Texas and Alabama. Why not restore Louisiana and South Carolina to the blessings of good government, that blacks and whites alike together may dwell under the said influence of peace and harmony? As wise men and patriotic citizens I pray you to judge whether it be right, expedient or humane to continue men in power who make political gain out of scenes of violence and bloodshed. Will you follow the party banner stained with human blood, and the political battle cry of a bloody shirt and money? Is it not wiser and better to trust a party whose fortunes are identified with the supremacy of law and the triumph of peace? Mr. Hendricks here congratulated the country on the reunion of the Methodist Church North and South, which he felt assured would rejoice every good man in the whole country.

CIVIL SERVICE REFORM.

Passing to the question of reform he asked whether reform was noticed in the character of officers and amount of expenses, and said: I think I know your judgment and feel the response of your hearts when I say that corruption pervades the public service, that a grand army of officers eat out your substance, and that waste and extravagance in expenditures destroy your resources. Gov. Morton and his followers denounce your complaints as bosh and demagoguery, but they must excuse you from heeding their renunciations. They have been act[illegible] in these things conspicuous, controlling, responsible; their conduct and that of their political confederates is passing under the judgment of the people. Corruption is found everywhere unchecked by the men elected and in power. It is found in every department of the service. It is proven in investigation, reports in dismissals, in impeachments, in indictments, verdicts and judgments. Must this great host of office holders become a standing army fastened permanently upon the industries of the people, and shall national expenditures continue as in the past largely to exceed the necessities of an efficient public service? Upon which side do you stand? Are you for reform or with the others? Do you not denounce reformers if your judgment does not condemn the present management and demand a purer, better and cheaper service? How will you as responsible citizens give that judgment expression? Your ballots will be the record of your judgment and purposes, and you contend that they should repeat the just and endorse the present as well enough. And now assuming that intelligently and earnestly you favor reform, that you sincerely desire improvement in the public service so that it shall become purer, more efficient and less expensive, the practical question of these times is how can these results be obtained and how can each man contribute to their attainment? Experience has taught us that there is but one remedy, and that is a change of administration. You may hold mass meetings and conventions and declare your wishes in resolutions, but your complaints will go to the winds if you do not give them force by the ballot, changing men and policies. What other reliance have you? Is it in the character and promises of the candidate for President? Four years ago last 16th of April when Gen. Grant approved the system of regulations for civil service reform he gave assurance most solemn, most positive, that political assessments had been forbidden within the various departments, that honesty and efficiency, not political activity, would determine tenure of office. That approval and assurance are found in his executive orders. Many of you trusted and expressed your confidence by voting for General Grant's election. You thought that with the aid of a board of officers he could and would remedy the growing evils. You trusted him because you admired him as a great and successful soldier and you relied upon his personal integrity and his iron will. Have you been disappointed? Political assessments, that most pernicious influence, have been and are continued with relentless exertion, collected as a tax and expended as a bribe. [illegible] honorable public servants are all assailed. And has that other assurance been kept, to the hope [illegible] have honesty and efficiency and not political activity determined the tenure of office? Again the power is found in investigations, reports, indictments, verdicts and judgments. Whose fault is it? There seems to have been no reform, but on the contrary the public service has been drifting from bad to worse. It is not fair to charge it altogether upon General Grant. The change springs from an [illegible] the part of a class of Republicans who seek Governor Hayes' election on the ground that he can accomplish the reform General Grant could not [illegible] bring about. Upon this point Governor Morton expressed the forgoing opinion in his last speech, in which he claimed that breaking away from the party would break down [illegible] that expression is strange. The truth is, it is what his party has made it, and his party is what its leaders have made it. Four years [illegible] [illegible] Grant in the [illegible] from the [illegible] and powerful [illegible] with which [illegible] [illegible] has been so disastrous as to cause a leading Republican newspaper to exclaim that the Republican party has reached the decisive crisis in its history, and within a short time it will either shake itself of the rascals which have disgraced it or go down to dishonor and defeat. In every State there are thousands of voters whose minds are made up this day beyond possibility of change [illegible] the American Republic [illegible] General Grant [illegible] has impudently [illegible] our civil service [illegible] the world ever saw [illegible] this most [illegible] administration [illegible] machinery in the [illegible] of well known managers and leaders [illegible]. The Democratic House of Representatives [illegible] judge of the temper of the party by the manner in which it gives investigations, exposures [illegible] newspapers and [illegible] to punishment you know full well that party under such [illegible] can not restore public virtue. Again, you seek retrenchment in public expenditures, and you can scarcely expect it from the party in power. Turn to the history of the past six months. The Democratic House determined upon retrenchment. In every bill appropriating money they applied the lowest sum possible consistent with efficient administration. Useless offices were abolished, extravagant salaries reduced, and unnecessary work suspended or abandoned, and the result was a reduction of about forty millions as the bills passed the House. Retrenchment was resisted in the Senate and its opposition was carried to the extent of a threat of suspension of the public service. So determined was the Senate that upon many bills the House was compelled to yield somewhat. The result was a reduction of only thirty millions in appropriations as they finally passed. This reduction of thirty millions at the first session is the pledge of reform and economy with which the House returns to the people. Will you stand by the House, or will you sustain the Senate and administration? My fellow citizens, upon which side of this well defined line will you stand on?

DETECTION AND PUNISHMENT OF OFFENDERS.

General Harrison made a very singular proposition in his Danville speech. He said: I say to the Democrats if their investigations shall succeed in the detection of any Republican officer in abuse in his office we pledge ourselves to correct the abuses and punish the offender and we mean to redeem the pledge. Why must it be left to Democrats to detect and expose official abuses? Why does the pledge not include that also? But the past does not justify any confidence in the pledge when made for the party and administration. When fraudulent contracts for collection of the revenue at a ruinous per cent. were exposed and the indignation of the people compelled Richardson, Secretary of the Treasury, to resign, was the offender punished? On the contrary, within two weeks he was appointed to a life office in which he adjudicates claims against the United States, and his appointment was confirmed by the Senate. Governor Hendricks also referred to the case of Clapp and his reinstallment and continued: I need not refer to the case of the present minister to Japan and his connection with the Credit Mobilier before his appointment and confirmation, nor to other cases. It is very plain that the leaders of party will not allow their party friends to be exposed or punished.

PARTY PLEDGES COMPARED.

I have another inquiry to make of you, the answer to which will very probably influence your votes. Have you reason to confide in and rely upon the pledges made? At St. Louis pledges were distinctly made, not so in the Cincinnati platform. There no retrenchment, no reform was promised. Assurance that the civil service should be purified, expenditures reduced and useless offices abolished would have been a rebuke and condemnation of the administration of General Grant. On the contrary, the Cincinnati platform declares the national administration merits commendation for its work in the management of domestic and foreign affairs. But may you trust to pledges made at St. Louis? Who will be most likely to abolish the thousand useless offices? In some instances they were created for party favorites, and in others they have been continued after their occasion has ceased, and they are now filled and their emoluments enjoyed by men who contribute money and aid by their labor to elect Gov. Hayes. Gov. Tilden will encounter no political embarrassment in correcting these great evils, but so with Governor Hayes. These reforms require that thousands of places of profit be made vacant now filled by their supporters. The present House is Democratic, and has it not proved itself true to every pledge given? In its investigations it has gone as thoroughly into the work as possible for men to do who had been excluded from the records of departments for many years. In the reductions of expenditures and abolition of useless offices it went as far as the persistent opposition of the Senate would allow. Have you occasion to be offended with the House? Has its work been in the interest of the people? Was it not for you that useless offices were abolished, $30,000,000 saved and enormous corruption brought to light? If this House had not been Democratic, do you not know that then Belknap would still be Secretary of War? Because this House is of and for the people it is denounced by every epithet that a vicious political taste can command. It has been declared sufficient to say Belknap was a Democrat until made Secretary of War. Does that indeed satisfy you? As a Democrat he remained without spot upon his character until the meridian of his manhood, but as soon as he came under new associations he fell. That is indeed attributing it to the influence of habits that have obtained at Washington, habits of extravagance and expenditures beyond legitimate income.

THE "CONFEDERATE" HOUSE.

Have you been quite content to hear the House described as a Confederate House? It is true there are many from the South who support the South. Is that offensive to you? They are chosen by the people in pursuance of the constitution. Would you have it otherwise? In what respect have Southern Democrats in the House offended you in voting to reduce the national expenditures thirty millions of dollars? Dealing fairly with this subject will you not admit that it was liberal as it was honorable on their part to vote to support the Centennial exposition rather than suffer the honor of the country to be tarnished and our pride humiliated by a failure after the Congress of 1871 had committed the country to the enterprise? Was it not liberal and honorable on their part to vote for equalization bounties among soldiers of the Federal army? Their own constituents could not share therein, and yet they supported this measure. The House has been denounced and declared revolutionary because reform measures were put upon appropriation bills. Legislation upon appropriation bills is not new nor is it revolutionary. It has prevailed heretofore and been practiced more than any other time when both houses were Republican. The practice is not a good one as I think and should not be encouraged, but the position presented the House was peculiar. It had been chosen by the people with express reference to the correction of evils and reduction of expenditures, but it soon became apparent that in carrying out the wishes of the people the House must encounter the determined opposition of the Senate and administration. The correction of prevailing evils and reduction of expenditures in many instances required the repeal or amendment of existing laws, and it was found that it could be accomplished only by putting repeal and amendments upon appropriation bills. Your representatives were direct from the people, and were selected specially upon questions of revenue and expenditure, and may be excused in the exercise of some judgment and discretion in respect to the mode of proceeding when the will of the people can be attained not otherwise. Until the present Congress the Democrats have been a small minority for many years, and have been unable to control the record by no means as full and complete as if they had controlled the fortunes of their measures themselves, etc. While you may not agree to many things that were done, and be dissatisfied that some measures were delayed and others lost in the House, [illegible] go forward and complete the work now well begun rather than go back to the practice of preceding years, and would you venture to repeat the history of the past eight years. Had millions been saved every year during that period it may be you would not now be in the contracting toils of hard times.

TILDEN AS A REFORMER.

Do you hesitate to trust Governor Tilden in the great work of reform? Always he might not accomplish complete success, but he will call around him [illegible] without embarrassment in his support, and his election will be without the help and over the opposition of all rings and combinations against the treasury. For his election he will be indebted to those who sincerely and earnestly desire reform. He will therefore have their support in carrying out his policy. It is sure. Can you trust him? You know that in such a work he is both zealous and capable. You know that neither political nor personal friendship can stand in the way of your efforts to purify and cheapen the public service. In the city of New York [illegible] he destroyed a [illegible] combination. As governor of the State succeeding General Dix he introduced a [illegible] reform, and the taxes of New York have fallen from $16,000,000 to $8,000,000. No other citizen can bring such evidence of his ability and [illegible] what the people now so [illegible]. That [illegible] of that effect on the part of the people [illegible] although the political [illegible] the country against him. Falsehood and [illegible] will do their worst, night and day, but the people will stand by the champion of their cause.

HARD TIMES, ETC.

Are you quite sure that the hard times were inevitable? If not then there are great responsibilities [illegible] where they [illegible] are intelligent in business and enterprising. We have great and constantly increasing sources of wealth. New mines are awaiting development and new lands are constantly coming into cultivation. Why then does capital shrink from investment? Why are laborers without employment? Some answer should be given by those who demand yet longer to control public affairs and to fix our politics. If no answer be given, or if the answer be an insult to their intelligence, the people will wisely resolve upon a change. When the laborer of the North asks why he can get no work he will not be satisfied with the answer that there was bloodshed at Hamburg, that there was a bloody riot at Newark, N. J., or that a man was driven from his house in Mitchell, Illinois, by a band of armed men and wounded. In such a case as ours the only remedy of the people is in a change. It will not be worse; it will be better in many respects, and it may be better in every respect. Retrenchment in public expenditures will surely relieve the industries of the country of a portion of their burdens, and the adoption of ways of economy and wise finance will restore better times. Where may capital look for investment and labor for employment in this country? Can it be to the leaders whose administration stands condemned and under whose measures disaster has come upon all interests? When the change has taken place and the people shall have placed in power an administration pledged to radical reform, pledged to a restoration to par value to the currency with no artificial retrenchments and wise finance, and pledged also to administrative policies and measures for the benefit of all the people and not for the benefit of a class or party, hope will revive and confidence be restored and we will experience the blessing of a returning prosperity.

Gov. Hendricks was followed by Hon. George Hoadley, whose speech was the principal feature of the occasion. Gen. Shields and others are speaking to-night.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

Servian War News.

London, Sept. 2.—A dispatch from Belgrade says the Turks are concentrated on the left bank of the Morava at Adrovatz and on the heights near Leschenitz, and yesterday commenced an attack on the Servian position. The engagement became general between Adrovatz and Jedcovotz, and continued until 11 o'clock last night, when both sides still maintained their position. The battle was resumed to-day, but the result is not known.

Prince Milan leaves Belgrade Tuesday to rejoin the army. He will go first to Drina, then to Ibar and then to Alexinatz.

The editor of the semi-official newspaper at Istok has received numerous letters from the permanent committee of the scuptchina, municipalities of Belgrade and provincial towns and from mercantile corporations, thanking him for advocating a continuance of the war. The letter from the scuptchina committee was signed by all the members.

Russian Reinforcements.

Belgrade, Sept. 2.—Fresh arrivals of Russian reinforcements continue to reach us and to pass on to the front. Fifty Russian officers came last night and forty others with their Cossacks to-day. This includes some officers of the Czar's Imperial Guard, and 144 of their comrades have leave of absence for Servia. Russian officers declare they have saved Servia. It is stated they drive the Servians to battle when necessary with pistol and sabre, and shoot down laggards remorselessly.

Turkish Politics.

Constantinople, Sept. 2.—The foreign ambassadors at a meeting at the English embassy, agreed on the form in which the mediatory proposals shall be presented to the Porte. The Porte, disgusted by the Russian news and the influx of Russian volunteers into Servia, is considering the advisability of closing the Danube.

Turkish War News.

Ragusa, Sept. 3.—It is stated the Turkish commander Mukhtar Pasha, succeeded in revictualing Bileck, returned to Trebinge, and proceeded with 10,000 men to Barjanti-feld. Leddi Pasha with his 5,000 troops is marching in the direction of Bileck.

London, Sept. 3.—A Belgrade dispatch says the Turks bombarded Alexinatz from the right bank of the river, and fired the town in several places.

It is announced that Alexinatz has been evacuated, but the fortress is still held by ten battalions and defended by powerful artillery. Another dispatch from Alexinatz states that the Circassians entered through Servian redoubts northwest of Alexinatz. Mines filled with dynamite were discovered. The Turks have gained a base for operations against the two villages which protect Alexinatz on the west.

Alexinatz, Sept. 3.—The Turks attacked the Servians on the left bank of the Morava, on Friday morning. The Turkish left began the advance, but meeting with strong resistance for three hours little progress was made. The Turks then made a vigorous assault and the Servians retreated, but in good order. At 4 in the afternoon the Turkish right attacked the Servians with success. Simultaneously with this advance the Turks attacked Alexinatz.

Servians Panic Stricken.

London, Sept. 3.—A correspondent telegraphs that when the villages around Alexinatz were fired by the Turks in the Friday battle, the Servians became panic stricken and whole battalions fled. The carnage was terrible. The streets of Alexinatz were filled with the wounded and dying. The Turks pursued the flying Servians, pouring in a fearful fire.

The Russians Determined to form a Special Corps.

The Russians are determined to form a special corps. Their valor in the battle on Friday is commented on. It is reported by the men under their command that the Turks, after beating the right wing of the Servians, made a flank movement in the direction of Krusovatz, the object being to reach Belgrade. The entire military position is changing. Tchernayeff is marching with the bulk of his army towards Krusovatz. He has telegraphed to Belgrade for reinforcements, and the Servian minister of war has ordered Gen. Anhirtch to march to Krusovatz with 12,000 men. The Times correspondent at Belgrade telegraphs that Friday's battle was the battle of the war.

Celebration of the Anniversary of Sedan.

Berlin, Sept. 3.—The anniversary of Sedan was celebrated on Saturday throughout Germany. The newspapers had leading articles, almost remarkable for the tone of conciliation toward France.

Depression in English Trade and Manufactures.

London, Sept. 2.—Besides the failures in the Cleveland iron trade, there has been an unusual number of smaller bankruptcies announced during the week in trade and manufactures, with liabilities from $25,000 to $40,000. Advices from Dundee report great depression in trade there. A fortnight ago one of the largest works in that town closed, throwing nearly 2,000 persons out of employment. Yesterday Ritchie & Simpson announced that one of their mills would close Thursday next, and also intimated a possibility of having to dispense with their weavers between 200 and 300 in another mill. At the same time the Manchester Examiner to-day reports the failure of Messrs. Stralling [illegible] and sugar merchants of Moscow, Russia, with large liabilities, of which $750,000 falls on England.

CROPS AND MARKETS.

Grain Markets.

Chicago, Sept. 3.—The markets for six days past have exhibited unusual activity and firmness, wheat having advanced steadily, closing at near [illegible] the outside prices. Spring wheat [illegible] sold at from 91¼ to 9[illegible], closing at 93¼ a 93[illegible]. The receipts for the week were a hundred and twenty thousand bushels wheat, 1,86[illegible],000 of corn and 409,000 oats, against 86,000 wheat, [illegible] corn and 507,000 oats same week last year. The shipments were 11[illegible],000 wheat, 1,413,000 corn and 212,000 oats, against [illegible] wheat, 1,[illegible],000 corn and 1[illegible],000 oats last year. The higher prices in wheat have been induced by firmer continental markets and a belief that wheat below a dollar per bushel is good property. The depressed feeling in all branches of trade seems to be gradually disappearing from this section of the country, at least commerce is regaining its elasticity. Money circulates more freely and more confidence in the future is expressed by tradesmen, financiers and all business men. These considerations have affected the wheat trade more specially than any other business and have imparted life to the general movement. Corn closes rather firm, though prices have ruled lower during the week than for some months past. The closing price is 4[illegible]. Oats are steady and firm at about [illegible]. A grain circular published here calculates an increased area of corn and a corresponding decrease of wheat, at least 15 per cent. in Iowa, Minnesota and Wisconsin, three heavy wheat growing States. The average of wheat per acre in these States the circular estimates at seven bushels, or fifteen millions less than last year. Corn will be an extraordinary crop, oats of large yield and light quality, while barley will grade low but be a fair average crop. Reports from other sources do not warrant so great a shrinkage in the wheat yield as the circular gives. Provisions have experienced a marked decline and seem tending strongly downward.

Liverpool Grain Market.

Liverpool, Sept. 2.—Red winter wheat, 9s 2d@9s 3d; spring, No. 1, 9s 2d; stock wheat on hand, 689,000 quarters.

Parade of the Hayes Invincibles.

San Francisco, Sept. 2.—The Hayes Invincibles are having an out door demonstration this evening and are now counter marching on California street in front of the Alta office with bands, banners, torches, transparencies and lime lights. The clubs are in uniform and about 1,000 strong, making a fine display. The campaign is being conducted here with much spirit, especially on the part of the Republicans, who have apparently a more complete organization than their opponents, though both sides are doing active work.

Hatfield's Body Recovered.

San Francisco, Sept. 2.—A body was recovered from the bay this morning at the Sacramento steamer landing, Market street wharf, which is identified as that of Alfred F. Hatfield, who threw himself overboard from the steamer Julia a few days ago while delirious from an attack of fever.

Smallpox.

Eighty five cases of smallpox reported for the week ending last night. Total cases reported to date 609. Seventy two deaths occurred during the month of August.

S. F. Whisky Indictments.

San Francisco, Sept. 2.—The U. S. grand jurors after six weeks' session have been excused from further service until November 13th. Following is a list of more important indictments: Andrew A. Louderback, Robt. Cushing and Isaac Lipman, charged with carrying on the Bay View distillery with intent to defraud the government. A large number of items are specified. Louderback and Cushing charged in another indictment with corruptly endeavoring to obstruct the administration of justice by offering a witness on behalf of the United States, James Walsh, $100 as a bribe not to testify before the grand jury. Chas. Jost, charged with carrying on distilling at Antioch, with intent to defraud the government. John Kelly, Frank Henderson and John G. Gilchrist, wholesale liquor dealers, charged with failing to efface the revenue stamp from a cask of spirits with intent to defraud the revenue. George Classina, wholesale liquor dealer, charged with refusing and neglecting to make entries in books and for fraudulently using packages; F. T. Brewster, internal revenue gauger, charged with making false certificate to the effect that he saw certain wholesale liquor dealers destroy stamps when he knew they had not been destroyed. The parties above-mentioned were all arrested and again released on bail.

Mining A[illegible] and Dividend.

New York Mining Co. levies an assessment of 25 cents, delinquent October 2d. Manhattan Co. declared a dividend of $1 per share.

Fifty Miles Horseback Race.

Petaluma, Sept. 2.—The great 50 mile race came off to-day. W. W. Smith's attempt to ride 50 miles in two hours and 12 minutes was a grand success and drew a large crowd. He made time and had two minutes and ten seconds to spare. He used ten horses and changed horses every mile and had no trouble with the horses. He came through the run well and very little fatigued.

Trotting at Oakland.

Oakland, Sept. 2.—The $10,000 trotting race at the Oakland park, between St. Julien and Van Voorhees, this afternoon, was won by St. Julien, Voorhees taking the first heat in 2:20½, St. Julien the next three in 2:25¼, 2:30¼, 2:29¾.

Hayes and Wheeler Flag Raising.

Sonora, Sept. 2.—The Republicans of this place to-day unfurled a beautiful banner sixty feet in length, upon which was inscribed the names of their standard bearers, Hayes and Wheeler. The scene was enlivened by music and much enthusiasm prevailed.

Quiet Day in San Francisco.

San Francisco, Sept. 3.—The city has been unusually quiet and barren of incident to-day. The weather is exceptionally pleasant, with warm, light breeze.

Rumored Declaration of War by Russia.

The rumor of a declaration of war by Russia has prevailed on the street during the afternoon and has occasioned considerable speculation, especially among those interested in wheat and commercial matters generally. There is, however, no known ground for the report, which is probably purely sensational.

NEVADA.

Serious Affray.

Eureka, Sept. 2.—Last night, about 11 o'clock, a fracas occurred on North Main street, resulting in a woman named Kate Miller, better known as Bulldog Kate, being stabbed by a man named Irwin. The wound is very serious and will probably prove fatal.

Fatal Mining Accidents.

Virginia, Sept. 2.—Last night the cable of the Dayton mine broke near the mouth of the shaft, 80 feet, falling on the cage and killing P. S. Wilson. To-day, while the new cable was being put in the cage it became detached, and fell down the shaft, killing Chas. Derby and seriously injuring Richard Mitchell, who was working alongside.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

Arrival of the California at Victoria.

Victoria, Sept. 2.—The steamer California from Sitka and Wrangel arrived early this morning. She brings 70 passengers and has $15,000 treasure for Victoria and some for Portland. No later news from the mines. She sails for Portland this evening.

Detained for Want of Wind.

The schooner Maraina, from Tahiti arrived this morning 38 days out. She was detained at Cape Flattery eight days for want of wind. For the same cause the brig North Star, reported as sailed for Honolulu on Tuesday last, and the ship Merchant from Nanaimo for San Francisco were unable to proceed.

H. M. S. Fantome will sail for Honolulu on Wednesday, 6th inst.

BY STATE TELEGRAPH.

Dr. Watts at Salem.

Salem, Sept. 3.—Dr. Watts, of Yamhill county, addressed the Hayes and Wheeler club last evening in a speech of two hours, which is said to have been a very able one and well received by the audience. There was a fair attendance and much enthusiasm manifested.

Accidental Shooting.

A man named R. S. Briggs, who has been chopping wood below town, entered the Congress Hall saloon this morning exhibiting a pistol which he desired to sell to the proprietor. While handling the weapon it was discharged, the ball entering his breast. He stood still for a few seconds, the pipe he was smoking dropped from his mouth and he fell backward on the floor dead. The coroner's jury returned a verdict of accidental shooting. He was about 50 years of age and has relatives living near Corvallis, Oregon.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY.

Statement of Capt. Butler, of the Ocean Spray.

Port Townsend, Sept. 3.—Capt. Butler, of the Ocean Spray, arrived to-day on the Isabel. He says he has not been under arrest and that there was no resistance made against the authorities in taking the vessel. He claims that Wood's yarn is really a hoax and that the seizure was unlawful.

A proposition has been made to remove the jam in the Nootsack river for $500, and it is to do the whole work or receive no pay.

THE TERRITORIES.

A letter from Mr. Harper, received last evening, says that there are two cases of smallpox on the mountain between Claquato and Boisfort.

A lady of Brush creek, W. T., over 50 years of age, during the past berry season, gathered 40 gallons of wild blackberries, which she sold for 50 cents per gallon.

TILDEN'S CONCESSION.

The New York Herald, in speaking on the subject of the Democratic canvass, sets forth very clearly the danger of elevating to the Presidency a man who, for the sake of gaining the support of a dissatisfied portion of his party, abandons his previously held views and adopts others directly at variance with them. The Herald says:

> Tilden, who is the hard money champion above all others, abandons the resumption act. It is said the resumption act is a sham, that it means nothing, that Tilden is sound to the core, that his concession is a mere tub to the whale. But no pledge is a sham until it is broken. What the country pledges Mr. Tilden proposes to violate. He proposes this not because he believes it, for, according to his supporters, he will resume long before the day fixed in the resumption act, but as a concession to the repudiators in the West. The country at once asks, what is to be the fate of an administration which begins its campaign for reform by a surrender to the most dangerous influence in the land, the inflation[illegible] of the West? The country recalls [illegible] Buchanan, the last Democratic President. [illegible] remembers that Buchanan was wise, able, [illegible]atic, experienced in the ripeness of life, a [illegible] man of the old school—the ablest man in [illegible] party—such a man as Tilden is to-day. It remembers how the elevation of Buchanan [illegible] regarded as the return of the old times [illegible] worth and experience graced the Presidency. It remembers also how Buchanan [illegible] with secession, as Tilden in his letter tampers with inflation; how he made [illegible] "[illegible]tions" to Hendricks and Ewing; how, [illegible] end, the evil with which he tampered [illegible] over him, covering his name and his administration with contempt, sweeping the [illegible] into war. This is a fatal memory to [illegible] now.

[illegible] country wants no concessionists of [illegible]. There is no telling where the [illegible] will end. Contrast with this [illegible] firmness of Mr. Hayes, and [illegible] for a moment hesitate as to [illegible] of the two is the better fitted and [illegible] likely to carry out the much desired civil service reforms. To do this [illegible] fully requires a man who will make [illegible] concession of right for the sake of popularity or support. In fact, a wide belief [illegible] that Mr. Tilden is altogether too [illegible] a politician, of a man of expediency, a seeker for popularity to make [illegible] President the country needs. [illegible] undoubtedly one of the best [illegible] of party in the country. He is [illegible] in the art of being all things to all [illegible], of setting up conventions, of [illegible] the wires into his own [illegible] and pulling them to suit [illegible], and in doing these things he has [illegible] the way to speak in vague language susceptible of various interpretations, as is evidenced by his letter of acceptance, of staving off action on important [illegible] until he could see which [illegible] popular side to take, as was [illegible] by his refusal to sign the call [illegible] in Union square in 1861 [illegible] of the government and to join [illegible] movement against Tweed [illegible] two months had elapsed, and of [illegible] concessions of principles publicly [illegible] to win votes as is shown by his [illegible] to the soft money men. Mr. [illegible] is an able man, no one denies [illegible] but he is not a safe man to make [illegible]. If he should be elected, the [illegible] are that the inflationists would [illegible] further concessions from him [illegible] of opposing his administration, [illegible] would be as effective as [illegible] of opposing his election has [illegible] there are other concessions [illegible] much, or more, to be dreaded, [illegible] might induce him [illegible]. So on the whole, Mr. Tilden is [illegible] to let alone.

[illegible] Carl Schurz announced his intention [illegible] Hayes and Wheeler it was stated [illegible] Democratic papers that he was induced to do so by the promise of a place in the [illegible]. The Westliche Post, Mr. Schurz' [illegible] the statement, and on the other [illegible] that immediately after Tilden's [illegible] his friends called on Mr. Pretorius, Mr. Schurz' associate editor, and assured [illegible] Mr. Tilden's first official act as President would be—if Schurz supported him—to [illegible] him for Secretary of State, or, if he [illegible] it, for ambassador to Prussia. The [illegible] displayed a lack of appreciation of [illegible], if they supposed Carl Schurz could [illegible] by the promise of office.

The Democratic faith in New York is hopeless [illegible]. They talk of coercing Gov. [illegible] to run, as it seems to be considered [illegible] alone can carry the State in the [illegible]tion. But we shall be very much mis[illegible] Gov. Seymour makes any "concessions." By the way, what has become of Gov. [illegible]'s letter of declination? The governor says he gave it to Mr. Magone, and Mr. [illegible] says he has it not, but will to-morrow or next day say what he did with it. We [illegible] not be surprised to learn that Mr. Tilden had it, and was withholding it in the hope [illegible] his persuasive eloquence should induce Gov. Seymour to relent and help him.

The condition of the unfortunate citizens of St. Hyacinthe is most deplorable. Six hundred houses have been destroyed, and a great number of people been rendered homeless. What makes their distress greater is the fact that in the destruction of the business portion of the town was included the destruction of the stores of provisions, so that the people are without means of subsistence and must depend upon charity. It is fortunate that the mildness of the weather does not cause them to suffer by their exposure as they would have done had this disaster occurred in winter. Still there must be a great deal of suffering.

A correspondent of the Chicago Times telegraphs to that paper a statement that he has examined certain records and finds that Gov. Hayes has underrated his income and estate, and has not paid as much income tax as he should have done. This we take to be the answer of Governor Tilden to the charge of evading his income tax—you are another. It should be observed that this allegation against Gov. Hayes is made by a "correspondent," and is sent to one of the most unreliable newspapers in the country. We do not believe one word of it.

A story has been extensively circulated to the effect that Gov. Hayes was captured during the war, one person going so far as to give the details of the capture, which was said to have been made at Petersburg. It now turns out that this report arose from the fact that there were three Generals Hayes or Hays in the Union army, and that one of them, Gen. John Hays, commanding a brigade in Warren's corps was captured with 2,000 men on the Weldon railroad, by the rebel Gen. Harry Hays, of New Orleans. Gen. Rutherford B. Hayes never was captured.

LETTER FROM SAN FRANCISCO.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 25, 1876.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

"How is your scab?" is the usual salutation on meeting an acquaintance nowadays. Every one has recently had, has now, or hopes soon to have a lovely vaccine scab, and feels happy if he does not get the regular smallpox scab or something as bad in his endeavor to raise one. A few weeks since the board of health arrived at the very proper conclusion that every one in the city should be vaccinated, and that none might have as an excuse a lack of funds, they appointed a staff of physicians to vaccinate all applicants at the expense of the city. Thousands of persons, rich and poor, as many as two thousand in one day, took advantage of the arrangement, and a large majority of these thousands are now anxiously waiting for the result. They are in serious doubt which kind of scab will develop first—the smallpox or vaccine—and the reason is this: In order to be admitted to the pest-house the patient must make application at the health office. Incredible as it may appear the health office, a small room in the heart of the city, was the place provided by the wise city fathers for the accommodation of the vaccinating physicians, so that the smallpox patient and the men, women and children to be vaccinated had to stand for hours in a crowded room, stairway and hall, waiting for their turn. This state of affairs existed for weeks and was changed only a few days since. Is it strange that this dreadful disease is spreading rapidly? During the past week 37 cases were reported. Since its outbreak, in May, about 600 cases have been reported, and 158 deaths from the disease have been registered. This probably gives a very incorrect idea of the actual number of cases, for only a comparatively small number of the deaths occur at the hospital. In July there were only 16 deaths at the hospital from this disease out of a total of 54, showing that a large majority of the persons attacked are kept at home; and the fact was recently established by testimony in a trial in the police court that patients have been reported by quack physicians as having died of scarlet fever and other diseases who had died of malignant smallpox. The city physician reports that one reason for the spread of the disease is the fact that so many persons attend the funeral of persons dying with the disease. The police had to interfere recently to prevent a loving husband from giving his deceased spouse, who had died of the smallpox, an illegant wake.

OREGON COMPARED WITH CALIFORNIA.

It is a common expression among Californians that "Oregonians don't see the sun more than once a year," and I have no doubt that many of them believe it, but I was very much surprised the other day when a very intelligent man, who has friends in Oregon asked me how the farmers managed to harvest their grain, as it rained there all the year. He had got this idea from his friends. Californians, as a rule, have a very distorted idea of Oregon. We all know that Californians do every thing in their power to keep immigrants from going to Oregon, and it is usual to charge them with telling deliberate lies to effect their object, but I am satisfied that, to a great extent, they think they are telling the truth, and that Oregonians are responsible for the idea they have of the country. Some one said very truly, that you could tell a citizen of Chicago, no matter in what part of the world you met him, after conversing with him fifteen minutes. Chicago, the greatest, bulliest, handsomest, most enterprising city in the world is bound to crop out. It is a good deal the same with Californians, and the reverse with Oregonians generally. You never hear of a Californian growling at the rain, and yet last winter the weather was worse than any I ever experienced in Oregon. It was worse because the rain was accompanied by cold, driving wind, that made the use of an umbrella out of the question. The Californian rejoiced, because the rain would bring good crops. In Oregon they cuss the rain, forgetting that without it a hundred ships a year would not be loading at their wharves for all parts of the world. I never hear them complain of the fog, wind and dust of summer, though many days the sun is not visible until noon. So dark and cloudy is it frequently that a newly arrived Webfoot instinctively feels in his pocket before going out in the morning to see if he is provided with money enough to buy an umbrella. Such leaden skies in Oregon would bring copious showers. The only thing it brings here is sore throats and colds. Or the cold winds that cut to the marrow, and the dust that blinds and chokes, I will say nothing, except that they are of daily occurrence. The average Oregonian is a confirmed growler where his own country is concerned, and he has also got the idea that California is a second paradise. Before I came here I had become innoculated with the idea that though Oregon was a good deal better country than any east of the rocky mountains, yet that if California was not exactly paradise, it was just outside and so near that from the hills of San Francisco the angels could be heard tuning their golden harps. I have been here a year, and I have come to the conclusion that the key to the Golden Gate must open the gate to the Golden City—I find that there are some drawbacks to even this "delightful climate," and that when compared with Oregon the pleasant weather of winter here is scarcely an offset to the charming weather of fall and the few weeks of good weather of winter in Oregon, and that the fogs, wind and dust of San Francisco summers, and the heavy rains in winter are a good offset to the gentle dews that fall in Oregon through the winter and spring. It is nearly always cool here in the morning and evening, not the delicious refreshing coolness peculiar to Oregon, but to new comers a shivery cold that makes a good fire a luxury; but with coal at $10 per ton and firewood $10 per cord, a luxury that every one does not indulge in. Californians will tell you that this is all humbug, but refer to the advertising columns of the Call and Chronicle and you will find scores of advertisements, "sunny rooms" and "houses with sunny exposure" advertised. Go out house hunting and you will find that it is very easy to get a house on the shady side of the street, but very difficult to get one on the other side. Few houses are built in San Francisco or Oakland that have not an eruption of bay windows—the heat of the sun is a consideration. The cost of fuel is an important item in the cost of cooking, roaring kitchen fires burning a big hole in a moderate income.

THE MARKETS.

I am much disappointed in the fruits and vegetables of California. Oregon vegetables and fruit, with the exception of grapes, are to my taste much superior to those of California. Good beef and pork are much more expensive here than in Oregon. Mutton is cheap, and consequently there is a great deal consumed. The greatest disappointment I have met with is in the California butter. Oregon butter is supposed to be the worst butter, on an average, that is made any place. The California butter that I have used in Oregon was very nice, and I concluded that the same quality could be picked up on every bush, but I do not hesitate to say that poorer butter, in a first class market, I never saw. Really good butter is the exception at any season of the year; but in the summer season, what I consider a first class article, is not in the market. The best does not have the genuine butter flavor, and becomes rancid in a very short time. There is no reason why California should not use a large amount of Oregon butter, especially in the summer, when butter is cheap in Oregon. There is certainly an opening for good butter makers to dispose of a large amount of butter at remunerative prices. Butter thrown into nail kegs and shoe boxes will not command a price any place, but good butter, neatly put up, would command a market and good prices, even if it did hail from Oregon. When I lived in Oregon I was very fond of chicken, but since I have been living here, I find that at one dollar apiece they don't agree with me. Eggs are always eggs here, seldom ever getting as low as 30 cents a dozen, and running up to a price that make them a luxury for any one with a moderate income.

HOODLUMS.

The hoodlums of San Francisco are running things about as they please in some parts of the city. They think nothing of taking possession of a corner grocery, helping themselves to beer, cigars, and money, while the proprietor stands by helpless, only too happy to escape without being badly beaten. Four persons have lost their lives at the hands of these white Sioux within the last three months. Sometimes the police arrest them when engaged in some of their evil deeds, but so great is the fear entertained by citizens of these lawless gangs that many of them dare not testify against them on trial, and they are seldom convicted. The press of the city are complaining so loudly of the daily commission of outrages, by these land pirates against the property and persons of unoffending citizens, without in many cases, the slightest attempt being made by the police to arrest the offenders, that the chief of police recently called his men together and charged them specially that these outrages which were disgracing the city must be stopped; that the evil must be stamped out, and that he considered it more important to arrest and convict one pronounced hoodlum than to capture six ex-convicts.

AN UNDERTAKER BOXED UP.

One of our prominent undertakers, named Yung, after boxing up other people for years, woke up one morning last week to find himself, or rather his house, almost as closely boxed in as ever any of his clients were after he was done with them. Yung is the fortunate, or unfortunate (as the case may terminate), possessor of a small piece of ground in a block of land of which Charles Crocker, the railroad magnate, owns the remainder, and on which he is building a magnificent residence. Now, the little house on which Young lived, on the little piece of land, is a great eye sore to Crocker, and he coveted the ground to make his own ground more symmetrical, and he offered a good round price for it. Young didn't want to move; it had been his home for years, and Crocker's house and fine grounds would enhance the value of his property, and he concluded if it was worth $9,000 to Crocker it was worth $12,000 to him. To get even or to hide the offending house from his view, Crocker bought out a lumber yard, and setting carpenters to work, erected a close board fence reaching high into the heavens, enclosing and completely hiding the little house on three sides, so that when there is company in the front part of the house that the does not want to see, he has to crawl out on the roof to get daylight and air. The affair has created considerable talk, and as both are stubborn men, and neither of them poor, the result of the fight is watched with considerable interest. The fence cost Crocker $3,000, so that even if there is a compromise, it will be an expensive fight for him.

COL. DENNISON'S PALATIAL RESIDENCE.

The following, which I clip from the Post, will probably be interesting to Col. Dennison's friends in Oregon:

The superintendent's house, where Mr. Dennison and his principal officers have their apartments, contains nine rooms, including a visitor's reception parlor furnished in a most recherche manner, a dining room for the superintendent and his visitors, which Sharon would be proud of, private apartments shaming the Palace, and a rather poorly furnished mess-room for the under officers. Living in this world of Brussels carpets and Axminster rugs, and viewing his manly figure in the looking-glass of his $90 etagere, one would imagine that Mr. Dennison should be happy. But he is not. When he lays his throbbing head upon his $16 pillow and covers himself with rug and blankets that cost $40, not even the fact that Nancy has been brought home safely to her stable without killing a supervisor, or dashing through a store-window, buggy and all, has power to grant him surcease of sorrow. Into the sympathetic heart of the Post representative he poured his sorrows. His house was not half furnished, and it was being done so slowly. Then there had been so much talk about the cost. How could the supervisors expect to furnish a house for less than $7,000. "You might," he added, "give them a hint in the paper about it. They have a fund called the Urgent Necessity Fund, out of which they might take the money to complete furnishing. We are in urgent necessity, here." A few little trifles in regard to this poorly furnished house may be in order. The hall and stairs are carpeted with tapestry Brussels; four sleeping apartments up stairs are carpeted with the same aristocratic material; the furniture is in black walnut, and, in order that the superintendent's feet may not be dirtied, a tapestry carpet covers his very office floor. Few city officials can boast of such a palatial residence, and yet the man grumbles.

AMUSEMENTS.

Though San Francisco has already more theaters than her population warrants, there is a strong probability that a new opera house exceeding in size and magnificence any theater in the United States will soon be commenced by several wealthy gentlemen of this city.

A majority of the theaters are doing a very light business at present.

Mlle. Aimee in Opera Bouffe at Wade's Opera House is drawing good houses. The matinees are crowded with ladies. One of the city papers speaking of "La Timbale D'Argent," which is now on the boards there, says: "The music is exquisite, and ladies who do not understand French can pass a very enjoyable evening." It is a singular fact that the ladies are not content to enjoy only the music, but provide themselves with books of the opera—the naughty French translated into pure English.

Aimee will be followed next week by Tony Denier, the celebrated pantomimist. We are promised something magnificent in scenery and dress, and wonderful machinery.

Edwin Booth will appear in Hamlet at the California next week. The choice of seats for the opening night will be sold at auction. X.

In what is said by a correspondent of the London Times to be "the battle of the war," the Turks gained a decided victory over the Servians. The latter were driven out of Alexinatz and forced to telegraph for reinforcements. The presence of a large body of Russians is a significant fact. It would not be surprising if the news of a declaration of war by Russia should come to us. Such a report is already current, but it is premature, to say the least.

THE FATE OF MR. HURGREN.

Up to present writing the fate of Mr. A. Hurgren, who mysteriously disappeared from his home Thursday night, is still shrouded in uncertainty. There are in circulation a number of reports to the effect that he has been seen since his disappearance; but nothing definite or positive is known. Persistent efforts have been made by Mr. Hurgren's friends since the disappearance to find him, dead or alive, but thus far unavailingly. The river has been dragged up and down for some distance from where the tracks led into the water, and all to no purpose. The water at the point where Mr. Hurgren is supposed to have entered the river is quite deep, and it is said there are under currents which would be likely to cause the body to drift up or down. If this is the case the remains may have been washed away from where the river bed has been dragged. There is one circumstance connected with Mr. Hurgren's disappearance which leads the many friends of that gentleman to cling to the forlorn hope that he did not drown himself; that he is wandering about in the woods somewhere near the city. A well known hunter of Portland owns a small row boat which he kept moored near the place where the tracks reached the river. The skiff, it is said, disappeared the same night that Mr. Hurgren did, and has not since been recovered. It is thought that the insane man may have embarked in the boat and paddled away. Saturday a report reached this city that Mrs. Waud, at Waud's Landing, had seen a strange man in an orchard gathering fruit; and that when some persons started toward him he made for the bank of the river, and getting into a small skiff, paddled to the opposite shore. She stated that the man had only a piece of board or plank with which he propelled the craft. By means of this he made very slow progress, and was nearly an hour in crossing the river. When he reached the opposite bank, he left the boat and disappeared in the timber. Mr. Shindler and another gentleman, on hearing the news, went down to Waud's Landing to ascertain the truth of the report. However, no traces could be found, and he returned to the city. Late Saturday night, a young man came to the police headquarters and said he had met Mr. Hurgren while on his way home on the First-street bridge. He said he was very positive that the person he saw was Mr. Hurgren. Chief Lappeus at once detailed several officers, who went to the place. They scoured the place for a long distance around, searching carefully in every nook and corner, but their efforts were unrewarded, not a soul could be found, and about 1 o'clock the search was abandoned. Several other rumors to the effect that he has been seen in different localities by various persons are being circulated. All these reports are invested with such an air of improbability that little credence can be attached to any of them. There is a possibility that the unfortunate man is alive at the present time, and that he is wandering around in a demented state. The almost inevitable conclusion to which all the circumstances connected with Mr. Hurgen's disappearance forces one, is that he has destroyed his life while laboring under the influence of temporary insanity. The Oregon Furniture Manufacturing Company, of which the missing man was superintendent, offer a reward of $100 for the recovery of Mr. Hurgren. To-day may bring to light some new developments which will solve the vexed question as to his fate.

BRIEF NOTES.

Splendid weather.

Daily mail to Seattle now.

The campaign has opened.

U. S. Circuit Court this morning.

The Georgia Minstrels go southward.

Dog owners should pay for their licenses.

Special term of the State Circuit Court to-day.

The public schools of Portland will open this forenoon.

Fires are still raging in the woods east and north of the city.

Sneak-thieves are about. Look to your doors and windows.

The Geo. W. Elder may be expected to-night if she makes the time anticipated.

Many persons reached the wharf yesterday just too late to join the excursionists.

A Hayes and Wheeler club was organized at the court house in Oregon City Saturday night.

The Bishop Scott Grammar School will open to-day with an excellent corps of teachers and a large number of students.

The school bells which will peal out on the air this morning will not strike juvenile ears like "silvery music." Alas, vacation days are o'er.

The old farm belonging to the estate of Capt. Douglas was recently sold to an emigrant for $4,000. The purchaser is said to have secured a good bargain.

Mr. Colburn Barrel, of East Portland, has laid on our table a bunch of large delicious strawberries. These berries are samples of the eighth crop raised on the vines. Strawberries in September is pretty good.

THE TURN VEREIN EXCURSION.

The steamer Oneonta left the O. S. N. Co.'s dock at 8 o'clock yesterday morning with some 400 persons aboard, which included all classes of our citizens. The day was beautiful, and as a consequence all were in the best of spirits. The excursionists were accompanied by music led by Tom Parrot, which was rendered to the satisfaction of all. After arriving at the Cascades landing, the major portion of the party took the cars in waiting and rode over the portage to the Upper Cascades, thus affording many an opportunity to see the rapids for the first time. Refreshments were served on the boat by Alex. Kaufman, to which all did ample justice. At about 4 o'clock the boat was cast loose from her moorings and steamed away for Portland. A most enjoyable time was experienced by all on board in social intercourse and dancing, while many improved the opportunity to see the wonders of the mighty Columbia. The steamer reached her wharf at 9 o'clock. No accidents were recorded, and the trip was pronounced a pleasant one throughout.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

School books of every description at Gill's. Parents should note this fact.

Those desiring fire insurance can rely upon having justice done them through the North British and Mercantile Fire Insurance Company, of London and Edinburgh. Mr. Edward Hall is the affable manager.

Messrs. Bray & Roos have secured the right to sell the patent ladders. Besides being adapted to the purpose of reaching elevated places, these ladders can be used for drying clothes, swings for the children and other purposes. They can be seen at DeLin's, 151 First street.

THE COURTS.

POLICE COURT—ADAMS, J.

Saturday forenoon the following cases were disposed of: James Lawlor, drunk and disorderly, $10, paid and discharged; —— Elkins, same offense, $5, committed three days; Wm. Niblo, same offense, $5, paid; Owen Boyle, same offense, $5, paid.

Wanted.—A woman to do general housework, northwest corner Fifth and Jackson.

Gill has everything from a primer to Webster's dictionary.

J. Kohn is now prepared to supply the people of Portland with clothing 25 per cent. cheaper than ever.

W. L. Adams, M. D., A. M., LL. D., corner of First and Salmon streets, is curing the most inveterate chronic diseases of all kinds at a low price, by medicated, electric lightning cream baths, and by combining the German and French with the American improved practice, mixed with a little common sense. His treatment is, in the main, entirely original, and works almost miracles, as his numerous patients will attest. Is extraordinarily successful in treating female complaints.

Sore eyes speedily relieved. The worst form of piles cured, and the most malignant cancers eradicated root and branch without the use of the knife, or the money refunded.

Notice.—Mrs. S. Lord, First National Bank building, having abundantly proven her ability to produce a new crop of hair in all stages of baldness, also to check falling of the hair and itching of the scalp, would advise those intending to avail themselves of her treatment to do so without delay, as business will soon take her from the State for some time. Preparations sent to all parts of the country.

HAYES AND WHEELER CLUB.

MASS MEETING AT THE COURT HOUSE FOR THE PURPOSE OF ORGANIZING A CLUB.

Pursuant to the call issued and so numerously signed by the leading citizens of Portland for a meeting at the court house, the object being the organization of a Hayes and Wheeler club, a very large number of persons who felt an interest in the success of the Republican party, assembled at the place designated. A band of music was engaged for the occasion, and about 7 o'clock Saturday evening strains of music were heard to emanate from the corner of Alder and First streets. Several lively airs were discoursed during which time an immense crowd of citizens collected. The line of march was then taken for the court house. Crowds continued to pour in until the spacious auditorium was filled to its capacity. After a dashing air by the band, the assemblage was called to order by Mr. Geo. A. Steel.

Mr. J. B. Montgomery moved that Judge J. H. Woodward act as temporary chairman of the meeting. Motion was duly seconded and unanimously carried.

Briefly stating the purpose for which the meeting had been called, Judge Woodward said the next thing in order was the selection of a secretary.

Mr. H. D. Sanborn placed in nomination Joseph Simon, Esq., which gentleman was elected without a dissenting voice.

After alluding in a brief manner to the political issues of the present national campaign, Judge Woodward said that the meeting was merely preliminary; that the object of the call was to effect the organization of a Hayes and Wheeler Club in the city for active campaign work; that the action taken then would no doubt be only temporary. Committees would probably have to be appointed to effect a permanent organization, and their reports received at an adjourned meeting. He concluded his remarks by saying that he awaited the pleasure of the meeting.

Geo. A. Steel moved that a committee on order of business and permanent organization, consisting of five persons, be appointed.

Motion prevailed and the chair appointed the following gentlemen to serve as the committee: Geo. A. Steel, H. W. Scott, David Goodsell, David Powell and J. B. Congle.

Mr. Goodsell moved that a committee of three persons on constitution and by-laws be appointed. His motion carried, and the chairman appointed the following gentlemen: H. D. Sanborn, Hon. H. W. Corbett, J. B. Montgomery.

The committees then retired to prepare their reports, when loud and prolonged calls for Hon. Richard Williams, Republican nominee for Congressman, were made. In response to the urgent request Mr. Williams came forward and addressed the meeting for a short time. During his remarks that gentleman reviewed the political records of the two great standard bearers of the Republican and Democratic parties—Hayes and Tilden—the action of the late Democratic Congress; the financial problem now before the country; showed by its past history that the Democratic party could not be entrusted with the reins of government. Mr. Williams briefly alluded to the subject of Chinese immigration to the Pacific coast, firmly opposing the introduction of that element of population in our midst, and offering the strongest possible argument in support of his views. The speaker made a number of telling hits during the course of his brief remarks. His speech was replete with sound logic, and was one of the strongest and ablest efforts we have heard Mr. Williams make. Mr. Williams' remarks were listened to with great interest and frequently interrupted by applause.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEES.

At the close of Mr. Williams' speech Mr. H. D. Sanborn, chairman of the committee on constitution and by-laws, submitted the following report:

PREAMBLE.

The object of this club shall be to sustain the principles of the national Republican party, acting in harmony with the regularly constituted authorities of that party and the support of its nominees.

CONSTITUTION.

Article I.—This organization shall be known and designated as the Hayes & Wheeler Club, of Portland.

Article II.—The members shall consist of legal voters of the county of Multnomah, elected by a majority of the club present.

OFFICERS AND THEIR DUTIES.

Article III.—The officers of the club shall consist of a president, six vice presidents, a recording secretary, corresponding secretary, treasurer and a marshal.

Article IV.—Sec. 1. The duty of the president shall be to act as executive and presiding officer, call special meetings when required in writing so to do by ten members of the club, and perform such other duties as the nature of his office may require.

Sec. 2. The vice president shall perform the duties of the president in his absence.

Sec. 3. The recording secretary shall keep an alphabetical list of the names and place of residence of all members of the club, and shall keep a correct record of its proceedings; issue all notices required; draw all drafts upon the treasurer, ordered by vote; receive and pass over to the treasurer all moneys paid to the club, taking his receipt for the same, and perform such other duties as may appertain to his office.

Sec. 4. The corresponding secretary shall attend to all correspondence.

Sec. 5. The treasurer shall receive all moneys, pay all drafts drawn on him by the secretary, countersigned by the chairman of the executive committee; keep an account of all receipts and expenditures, make a written report of the same to the club, when required, and at the expiration of his term transfer all funds, books, etc., to his successor in office, and perform such other duties as may be required of him.

Sec. 6. The marshal shall enforce the orders of the president and shall have command of the club in all processions.

ELECTIONS.

Article V.—The club shall, at the election of officers, elect six vice presidents, said officers to be numbered from one to six, and to take precedence as numbered.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

Article VI.—There shall be one standing committee, known as the executive committee, to whom may be referred all subjects relating to the general working of the club; said committee shall be composed of seven members elected from the body of the club.

AMENDMENTS.

Article VII.—This constitution and the by-laws of the club may be altered or amended at any time by a two-thirds vote of the members present and voting, at any meeting of the club, provided a notice of the proposed amendment be given at a preceding meeting.

BY-LAWS.

Article I.—The club shall fix the time of its meetings by vote, or adjourn subject to the call of the president, as may from time to time be determined upon.

Article II.—All vacancies occurring in office shall be filled by an election at the next regular meeting after notice has been given to the club.

Article III.—Twenty members shall constitute a quorum, and be qualified to transact business.

Article IV.—All committees shall be appointed by the president, unless otherwise ordered by a special vote of the club.

Article V.—No member shall speak more than twice on any subject, nor longer than five minutes without the consent of the club, which must be granted or withheld, without debate.

On motion, the report of the committee as a whole was adopted.

The committee on permanent organization and order of business, not being ready to report were granted further time—until the adjourned meeting of the club.

On motion the meeting adjourned until next Saturday evening at 7 o'clock, at the corner of Yamhill and First streets.

After adjournment an invitation was extended the audience to come forward and sign the constitution and by-laws, and thus become members of the club. In response to the invitation a large number came to the secretary's desk and signed the roll. For the benefit of all who desire to become members, we will state that the roll is now in the possession of the secretary, Joseph Simon, Esq., who will be pleased to receive signatures.

No opposition or competition can compete with the long established clothing house of J. Kohn.

One of the coolest spots in town is the "Fountain," where Peter Wilhelm holds forth. He keeps the best liquors and cigars, and Weinhardt's best beer. His billiard tables are excellent, and the "Virginius" pool table continues a favorite.

A man named J J Clark is under arrest at Baker City charged with the crime of incest with his daughter and step-daughter He is reported to have lived with both of them as husband and wives.

A good quality of coal has been discovered below Oakland on Calapooia creek, some 13 miles from the railroad by Mr Harness It is yet unprospected and he is uncertain whether it is in paying quantities or not.

Tilden and Hendricks and Hayes and Wheeler rallies commenced to enthuse the voting masses at Astoria last week Speeches were made by Judge Page, democratically, and by Messrs Yocum and Hare on the other side.

A party of prospectors struck it rich on the ocean beach, fifty miles north of Empire City In cutting through a body of gravel they came upon a large deposit of black sand which panned out richly The new mines are said to be extensive.

According to the assessment roll there are in Lane county this year, 5,365 horses and mules, 13,235 cattle, 43 062 sheep The value of all property in the county is $4 605 235 on which there is an indebtedness of $1,331,100 and $321,755 worth is exempt.

Mr. R. Harness of Oakland, has discovered a vein of what is thought to be anthracite coal one hundred feet wide, within three miles of the railroad track near Wilbur. This vein is [illegible] worked and will turn the coal trade of the Willamette valley to Douglas county.

Messrs. Badollet & Co , of Astoria, awarded first prize, a watch valued at $60, to Charles Street, and second prize, a watch valued at [illegible], to Charles Brown, for the highest and [illegible] highest number of salmon caught during the season by fishermen at that cannery [illegible] Dillard, lately interested in the Ran[illegible] in [illegible] county, accompanied by [illegible] has gone into the Bohemia country [illegible] a quartz mine discovered by him [illegible] several years ago. The mine [illegible] prospected at the time it was [illegible] and gave evidence of exceeding richness.

[illegible], in limited quantities, has been found near Canyonville. The specimens [illegible] indicate a large deposit near the scene [illegible], and an effort is being made to [illegible]. This is the second time this mineral [illegible] found in Douglas county, and it is a question of time when a valuable vein will be discovered.

[illegible] workmen employed on the Canyon[illegible] wagon road were discharged on the 26th All repairs needed on [illegible] completed prior to that [illegible] put in fine condition for [illegible] who have passed over [illegible] no better, if as good, road [illegible] in the State.

[illegible] says: "A young man [illegible] living about one mile [illegible] Powis, met with quite a serious accident Thursday. While engaged in cutting [illegible], his ax glanced and struck his right foot, [illegible] entirely through part of it. The cut [illegible] just back of the joint of the great toe [illegible] diagonally across the foot, just in [illegible] of the instep making a very severe and [illegible] wound"

[illegible] traveling from Sacramento valley [illegible] sick with chills and fever in Southern [illegible] and could get no food or shelter from [illegible] for four days. Everybody was [illegible] he had the smallpox. At last he [illegible] the house of Mr. Burnett of Douglas [illegible] who at once told the man whether he [illegible] smallpox or not, he should not be allowed to suffer for want of the necessaries of life, and he at once took him into his house, [illegible] him a bed and supplied him with food.

[illegible] Independent says there is a man near [illegible] who has a boy going to school [illegible] day the boy came home and told [illegible] the teacher had said the world was [illegible] This idea didn't suit the old man. [illegible] that if the world was round the [illegible] in the South Umpqua would run both [illegible], and finally run off the world, and then, [illegible] as sin at the teacher who would try to [illegible] his boy believe any such nonsense, went [illegible] school directors and tried his best to [illegible] "that derned old fool discharged"

The Dalles Re[illegible] says: "Several Indians [illegible] told us that they expect a very severe [illegible] in the coming one. That every one of [illegible] signs would indicate one of the hardest [illegible] this country has witnessed for many [illegible]. They are very anxious to work in order to get "grub" enough to last them through, [illegible] believe there will be no weather this [illegible] that will allow them to do much at [illegible] winter occupation, viz chopping [illegible], making rails and grubbing. It remains [illegible] how reliable their prediction is [illegible] there is no gainsaying the fact that [illegible]

The [illegible] says Mr. C. D. Cardwell and [illegible] were on their way to Roseburg last [illegible] when they were drugged and robbed [illegible] the following circumstances Saturday night they camped at Mr. Hans Weaver's [illegible], near Myrtle creek, for the night. As is [illegible] custom of [illegible] at this season of the [illegible], they slept out in the open air under a large tree near their wagon The old gentleman had in his pantaloon, $140 in gold coin [illegible] his pocket, while his son slept by his side [illegible] a splendid watch under his head. In the morning, when the parties awoke, they [illegible] both money and watch gone, while [illegible] lay a handkerchief with all the evidence of having been saturated with some [illegible], and used in the removal of the articles

The Roseburg Independent says, we were yesterday shown some very rich gold and silver bearing quartz from the Esther mine It came from the lowest tunnel, now being run in on the mine, 300 feet below the summit, and while some of it will assay $400 to $500 to the ton, the rock will average from $50 to $100 The ledge grows wider as the tunnel penetrates the mountain, and at the present time with the tunnel 60 feet in the ledge, presents two feet of solid quartz in width, which has been maintained unbroken 30 feet from the mouth of the tunnel A shaft has been raised from this a distance of 40 feet to the tunnel above, and this shaft shows a solid ledge all the way up of the width mentioned A shaft is also being run from the second tunnel to the one 60 feet above, and everything put in readiness for the new machinery soon to be received from San Francisco When the new machinery arrives the mill will be put on the best rock in the mine, whereas it has only been crushing the poorest, and then the Esther stockholders will reap the profitable returns their patience, the skill of their superintendent and their energy entitles them to

The Boise Statesman says Mr S Davidson, who lives ten miles west of the Weiser on Mann's creek, says he heard the noise pronounced by some an earthquake on the morning of the 6th inst It seemed to him like a wagon crossing rapidly over a corduroy road The sound commenced light and got louder and louder and then died away He thought there was forty or fifty distinct sounds, and the earth appeared to tremble like the jar of heavy thunder Peter Sailing and George Patterson were out hunting that morning in the Mann creek mountains some ten miles north of here and while riding over a rugged portion of the mountain they heard a noise which seemed at first like the drumming of a partridge The noise grew louder and louder and shook the earth the jar was so great that they thought the earth would open between them, and they separated hastily on that account They came to the conclusion, however, that it was not an earthquake, but a [illegible] on its [illegible] to the earth, and that it must have struck the earth only a little ways beyond them. They have since been out and examined the country some distance beyond to find the meteor but without success

FARMING ITEMS

Peaches are selling at Roseburg at $[illegible] a bushel

Four thousand bushels of wheat was purchased at Eugene City last week at sixty cents per bushel delivered on the cars

Hop picking will commence next Monday on the McKenzie Kanoff Tuttle and Myers are offering thirty seven cents a box for picking

The grain crops of Ten Mile district Douglas county gave a better yield than was expected before grain was threshed The crop is about up to average

During last week heavy frosts visited some localities in Clarke county At Fern prairie potato tops were killed and late corn was nipped down on Lewis river

Some of the farms in the vicinity of Brush creek below Vancouver were visited by Jack Frost one night last week one man's buck wheat was nipped and sundry other tokens of the midnight visitor were left

The amount of wool sheared in Douglas county thus far this year is greater than ever before and will exceed the yield of former years by many thousand pounds The wool is also better—being very long and clean and of an unusually finally grade

The Douglas county Independent says "Mr J D Burnett informs us after threshing at different points in the county for ten days that the wheat crop this year falls short about one fourth the yield of former seasons, while barley and oats are a full average Hay never was more abundant."

The farmers on Ten Mile, Douglas county, have about finished cutting their grain and many of them have their grain cut threshed and ready to deliver at market Threshing machines can be heard in several directions at the same time, and soon the busy season of the year with the farmer on Ten-Mile will be over for 1876

The Independent says John Proebstel the grape culturist, says Clarke county will produce as fine grapes as can be produced in Germany, and that the wine produced in this county is far superior to that of California. It has less of the alcoholic principle than is found in the California wine, is therefore less fiery and of a smoother and lighter character

The Port Townsend Argus says "Judge Swan has just received from Mr John Bennett, of Whatcom, Bellingham Bay, a box containing five specimens of the finest grasses in America, which will be sent by the Dakota to the Agricultural Department at Washington. Mr. Bennett has for many years been engaged in cultivating native grasses some of which he found high up on Mount Baker. A variety of native timothy and orchard grass, seven feet long, are among these specimens But the grass that Mr Bennett prides himself most on is the Bennett rye grass, which grows to an average height of 4½ feet and has produced eight tons to the acre. The hay from this rye grass is superior to timothy; cattle and horses prefer it to any other kind."

Transactions in the local money market though generally of small amount singly aggregate quite a large volume and denote an increased business in the various departments of trade. An exchange of recent date says, the financial writer that cannot predict the end of the dull times and the dawn of a more prosperous era, may not anticipate a growing popularity with his readers. While we are not given the spirit of prophecy, observation reveals the fact that money is not as close as in 1873-74, or times as dull as they were a few months ago, and that a very perceptible improvement has taken place in almost all the various branches of commerce The growth is slow to be sure, but the basis is permanent and the promise better than that given by sudden excitement, wild speculation or greatly inflated prices. It is the real healthy growth of a new country abounding with the elements of progress.

The markets for general merchandise are showing more signs of revival, and we may soon expect a lively fall trade. Prices for imported goods, wares, etc, are low and steady, some lines which have slightly appreciated in the Eastern markets of late are firmer here in consequence as after the distribution of the present accumulation of such goods, an advance will take place here

In the line of agricultural products there is about the average volume of transactions, without any material fluctuation of prices. Wheat is coming forward a little more freely, and the vessels on the berth will load with moderate dispatch Oats are not in heavy receipt, owing to the lower rates Flour is in ample supply for the trade, which is not brisk Wool is steady, and the late advance noted in choice is firmly sustained A little dried fruit is in the market, and sun dried apples are quoted at 10@10½c per lb. There is no other change in prices.

LAND FOR IMMIGRANTS.

Choice Farms for Sale,

4,000 ACRES, IN QUANTITIES TO SUIT PURCHASERS.

230 ACRES DUE SOUTH AND ADJOINING the Railroad Depot at Salem, all under cultivation, and suitable for grain or vegetables.

946 Acres four miles southeast of Salem on the railroad with Mill creek running through it. This is the choicest farming land in Marion county, with fine springs consisting in part of the old Rector donation claim on which I raised the past year fifty bushels of wheat and three tons of timothy per acre The first crop of oats ever raised on part of this land measured ninety four bushels per acre, grain weighed and ground chained by Mr Alfred Stanton of Salem

4,700 Acres of prairie and light brush land with timber for farming purposes bounded by the Willamette River for four miles beautiful lake on the east boat landings all along the river commencing four miles north of Salem—all choice grain land—the largest and most suitable body of land to be found in the Willamette Valley to be purchased by a colony To be sold from $15 to $25 per acre. This land will all be immediately resurveyed and can be sold in larger or smaller parcels to suit purchasers It can be subdivided to the best possible advantage and I can offer any person or persons or colony of persons desiring to purchase homes in the best part of the Willamette Valley near the city of Salem and within reach of the best social advantages as well as most favorably located with respect to markets greater advantages on more favorable terms than they can ever expect to realize again
